

At the Tribune Buildings, corner of Spruce and Nassau streets, opposite the City Hall, and delivered to City Subscribers for 2½ cents per copy, and to all others for 3½ cents per copy, &c. It is now 100 times the same rate. Single copies, 2½ cents. Mail-subscribers Five Dollars per annum, in advance. Subscriptions take six months. For three months $3. Three Dollars in advance, and six months thereafter. Subscriptions taken at the office, whose terms are higher than those of the Tribune, are not allowed any difference.

TERMS OF ADVERTISEMENTS.*Regional and General.

Business Notices.— 10¢ cents per line each insertion. General Notices.— 5¢ cents per line, each insertion over six lines, each insertion. News per line.

General Advertisements.—INSURANCE.— 10¢ cents each insertion, 10¢ cents over line, a cent per word.

CLOTHING.— 10¢ cents per line, each insertion. Books and periodicals. 5¢ cents per line, each insertion. TRADE NOTICES.— 5¢ cents per line, each insertion. Wants, &c. 10¢ cents per line, each insertion.

Local Advertisements.— At the rates fixed by us. Advertisements inserted in this paper appear in our Morning and Evening Editions.

NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.*BY TELEGRAPH TO THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.*The Struggle for the Speakership.

WASHINGTON, Friday, Dec. 7. On the first ballot to day John W. Bowes, Free Soil Whig from Pennsylvania, voted for Whipple, making 12. Cobb had 60. Houghson 29. Parker 13. Williams, Geary 5. Scudder 2. Another ballot is now proceeding.

Important from Texas.

MEXICO, Tues., Dec. 6. Advice has been received from Texas to Nov. 19 stating that the Constitutional party at the State was strong, very strong, and the news does not comfort the friends.

Gen. Banks had received an important rumor, according to which the Confederates, who had a powerful Indian chief had been captured, were in some cases of the military expedition had been received and the smaller garrison strengthened.

From Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Thurs., Dec. 6. The Legislature of this State has passed a law in which Memphis and South Memphis have been unit in one charter.

The weather is very unfavorable and but little business is done. Shelling Cotton is quoted 19½ 10, though the sales principally are at 16 10 10.

The Speaker—P. B. St. General's Report.

Editorial Correspondence—The Times.

WASHINGTON Wednesday Eve, Dec. 5.

This ineffectual struggle for the election of a speaker, begins to grow tedious. Instead of testlessly noting each vote as it is given, people will naturally about the Capitol and grounds, wonder how long it will take to finish the ball, look in to see if they are through, and perhaps find the Clerk down among the Kings, of whom there are five in the House, or at farthest not beyond the M's or N's. Voting goes on, as they call it, does very well for us, but becomes fatiguing and tiresome after the fourth round. I wish they would change to tomorrow or the ballot. I believe a Speaker might be made in a day by that method.

At all events, let us have some variety. I have hoped this election that to-morrow would close the contest in some way, but the prospect has not visibly improved this evening. Still, it may be that a Speaker will have been chosen before you receive this.

The POSTMASTER GENERAL'S REPORT.

Editorial Correspondence—The Times.

WASHINGTON Wednesday Eve, Dec. 5. This ineffectual struggle for the election of a speaker, begins to grow tedious. Instead of testlessly noting each vote as it is given, people will naturally about the Capitol and grounds, wonder how long it will take to finish the ball, look in to see if they are through, and perhaps find the Clerk down among the Kings, of whom there are five in the House, or at farthest not beyond the M's or N's. Voting goes on, as they call it, does very well for us, but becomes fatiguing and tiresome after the fourth round. I wish they would change to tomorrow or the ballot. I believe a Speaker might be made in a day by that method.

At all events, let us have some variety. I have hoped this election that to-morrow would close the contest in some way, but the prospect has not visibly improved this evening. Still, it may be that a Speaker will have been chosen before you receive this.

The POSTMASTER GENERAL'S REPORT.

Editorial Correspondence—The Times.

WASHINGTON Wednesday Eve, Dec. 5.

This ineffectual struggle for the election of a speaker, begins to grow tedious. Instead of testlessly noting each vote as it is given, people will naturally about the Capitol and grounds, wonder how long it will take to finish the ball, look in to see if they are through, and perhaps find the Clerk down among the Kings, of whom there are five in the House, or at farthest not beyond the M's or N's. Voting goes on, as they call it, does very well for us, but becomes fatiguing and tiresome after the fourth round. I wish they would change to tomorrow or the ballot. I believe a Speaker might be made in a day by that method.

At all events, let us have some variety. I have hoped this election that to-morrow would close the contest in some way, but the prospect has not visibly improved this evening. Still, it may be that a Speaker will have been chosen before you receive this.

Religious Items.

At the regular monthly meeting held at the parsonage of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, in this city, on the 1st, a letter was read from Dr. King, dated Athens, Oct. 15, in which he states that he has found a new object of labor, having been much occupied in conversing with Italian refugees from Rome, and has sold his many personal effects for distribution among his Greek brethren. Mr. King has temporarily associated with him Prof. Sophie, a Greek gentleman of rare attainments and accomplishments, but to what amount or whether sufficient to cover the case, if we have not been able to learn. Another statement is, that the note was fully liquidated by the endorsers on the back, and that the note for $100 was the only demand which Dr. King has made.

Mr. James Rowland Hughes has been installed as pastor of Richelieu Church, Presbyterian of Reformed, in New-Jersey City, with the Rev. Dr. Taylor as his coadjutor.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F. Moore, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Boston, has recently had charge of the services at the new church, and has appointed twenty-two, among whom was one who, he told us, had been excommunicated.

Mr. George F